The Times They Are a-Changing

Scientists' Responsibilities in Changing the Future of Society

17:00-18:30 Tuesday 25th March
C210 Seminar Room

In the next decades, society will be heavily dominated by science and technology. New technologies will transform life, business, the global economy and social behavior in all continents.

What influence will scientists have on the successful integration of this vast change for humanity?
