

The Provost Lecture Series 3

B250

In celebration of his promotion to tenured Associate Professor

The Provost Lecture Series will provide an opportunity to celebrate milestones in the careers of OIST faculty members. It will recognize newly promoted professors and those who have received prestigious awards. It will highlight faculty achievements and create a space for retiring professors to talk about their research accomplishments and lessons learned over the course of their career. It is a way to celebrate OIST faculty, introduce them to the broader OIST community, acknowledge their research successes, share about their teaching and mentorship of students, and honor their service to the university.

A passion for little creatures with six legs

Wed. Dec. 14th 2022
16:00-17:45 Sydney Brenner
Lecture Theater B250

Associate Professor, Evolutionary Genomics Unit

Tom Bourguignon

Chair: Professor Amy Shen, Micro/Bio/Nanofluidics Unit, Provost

Office of the Provost  provost_office@oist.jp

