

How I Became a Scientist

—A Journey into the Mysteries of the Brain—

Saturday, May 23
14:00 - 15:00

OIST Science Studio
(Yomitan Public Library)

Target Audience: 13years-old and above

Capacity: 50 Participants

Admission Fee: Free

Language: English & Japanese
(Consecutive Interpretation)

Speaker

Aleksandra Gavrilova

PhD Student at OIST Optical Neuroimaging Unit

▽Register here▽

Registration opens on Apr. 25

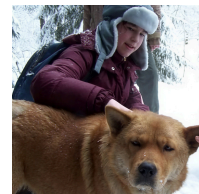

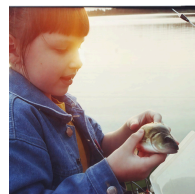

Registration Form

Registration will close once capacity is reached.

How Did She End Up Studying the Brain at OIST After Growing Up in Latvia and Russia?

Aleksandra, who is currently researching how the brain controls behavior at OIST, will share the excitement of science and her journey to becoming a scientist.

The Parking space for the Yomitan Library is available.