Everyday Shopping Store Guide

In Ishikawa, where the OIST bus will drop you off, there are several options for grocery and other regular shopping needs. Normally, you will get off the bus at stop #6 (see the OIST bus route map) where San-A and Tabata are.

This guide will have a bit of information on each store. Green dots on the map indicate the approximate location of each shop described with the name of the store labeled.

Tabata (タバタ): This is the first store you will see when getting off at stop #6 and probably be taken to in your first week. Tabata has a wide variety of things including fresh groceries, plants, stationary, furniture, and other DIY (do it yourself) items. For fresh produce including vegetables and groceries, Tabata is the cheapest shop in this area (especially compared to San-A). Most produce sold here is locally grown. This makes it cheaper but also the produce sold is not regular and will change throughout the year. Great if you want to eat local and like an Okinawan or save money! You will likely find many fruits and vegetables that you have never seen before here. While most fruit in Japan is quite expensive, at Tabata you can find certain fruit at reasonable prices depending on the season and ripeness of the fruit (riper is usually cheaper as closer to spoiling).

At the opposite end of the store, plants are sold if you would like to liven up your house. Again, if you search, many plants are discounted so you can find many cheap plants. In between the plants and produce sections, things like pet food, cleaning supplies, pots, pans, plates, cutlery, glues, tapes, tools, and wood can be found amongst other things. The second floor has some clothing, sports equipment, stationary, and furniture. If there is something you don't have, Tabata is usually the first place to look.

San-A (サンエー): San-A is a regular grocery store next to Tabata. Fruits and vegetables here tend to be more expensive than in San-A but more regular in what is sold and some things that can't be found in Tabata. It is best for things like milk, fish, and meat, pre-packaged food, cooking sauces, bread, and seasonings.

Daiso (ダイソー): Daiso is a 100 yen shop. Like a dollar store if you have that in your country.

To get there, get off at the #6 bus stop and turn right. Keep walking until you pass a gas station. After the gas station you should see a CoCo's curry, laundromat, and Daiso (green sign) on your left.

Everything in the store is 100 yen (+tax so will really be 108 yen) unless marked otherwise. A few items will be marked as 200 or 300 yen, rarely more. The quality of things that can be found here is quite decent and a wide variety of things ranging from small plants, cups, stationary, snacks, etc. You may be surprised at what you can find. Good to take a look and be aware of what there is. Sometimes some items may cost much more elsewhere but a similar thing can be found in Daiso for 100 yen.

Gyomu Super (業務スーパー): To get here, either get off at stop #4, cross the street and keep walking in the same direction as the bus or get off at stop #5, cross the street, and walk down the opposite direction of the bus. You will reach a store with a big dark green sign.

Gyomu Super is a store meant to supply businesses and restaurants. As such, you can find many food items sold in larger quantities than in other stores. This usually makes the price per unit cheaper if you are willing to buy a lot at once.

There are many frozen meats and also quite a few foreign items that are not found in other shops. Good for rice, meats, onions, dried beans, potatoes, etc.

Kanehide (かねひで): Kanehide is a grocery store nearby stop #5. There are not too many differences from San-A but sometimes some meat or beer can be found cheaper here.

Max Value / Drug stores: To get here, from bus stop #6 walk back until getting to a bridge crossing over a four-way intersection. Turn left here and walk down. You should cross a river. Keep walking until you see an Au store (orange sign). Turn right at the Au store and you should reach a bend. After the bend, there will be a variety of stores such as drug stores (Drug store Mori etc.), some shoe stores, Max Value, and a Karaoke place Croquette Club.

Max Value is another regular grocery store, not so different from San-A and Kanehide. It is part of Aeon so if you collect those points it may be good.

If you need medications this area is a good place to go as there are about 3 different drug stores.

Gushikwa Jusco Area: While an OIST bus does go here, it is only one-way. To OIST early in the morning or from OIST in the evening. Taking public transportation here would also require many bus changes. Thus going by car is recommended.

This area contains a few big stores such as Nitori (Furniture, household items, bedding), Sports Depo (Sports clothes and equipment), Aeon mall (Aeon grocery store, clothes stores, electronics stores, Daiso, etc), Yamada denki (electronics and appliances), and Don Quiote (discount items on many things such as appliances, food, clothes, toys, bicycles, etc.).

Used items shops

During your stay in Okinawa you might need to buy a lot of stuff that aren't necessarily to be new. There are some places that you can find used stuff in a good condition, even sometimes they are like new. Sometimes you can get what you are looking for from Okinawa Bookoo website but sometimes you can't find that. So recycle shops, that's what they are called here in Japan, can be very helpful and make you save some money.

1- Today OK:

Today OK is one of the famous shops for selling furniture in Okinawa. The most interesting part is that they have a section for used stuff. It's very large area where you will absolutely find what you are looking for. The prices are reasonable and they make discount on the initial prices every 10 days with a maximum of 70% discount of the initial price. So the best timing to go there is on the 10th, 20th, 30th of every month so you can catch what you are looking for with the best price. They have a convenient delivery option with reasonable price.

2- Don't know the name (local shop):

This shop doesn't have any signs showing its name and that it sells used stuff. It has the cheapest prices among the used shops I have visited in Okinawa. They also have a variety of goods like: household stuff, electrical appliances, kitchenware,..... They give you 3 months of warranty on most of the electrical appliances.

3- 2nd street:

2nd street is one the known recycle shops in Okinawa with more than one branch around the island. You might find something interesting there. The prices are not that cheap, but you might give it a try. It has a collection including: household stuff, electrical appliances, kitchenware, clothes and small collection of furniture.

4- Manga Souko

Manga Souko is the most famous recycle shop in Japan with a quite large number of branches. It has a lot of used clothes, electrical appliances, toys, musical instruments, mangas, DVDs, bags, accessories,..... It's working for 24 hours a day.

Smartphone Plans in Japan

The major cellular networks in Japan are “Au-KDDI”, “NTT Docomo” and “SoftBank”. Typically their smartphone plans will require the purchase of a carrier-locked phone from them and will be about ¥6000-¥8000 per month for a plan with LTE (higher than 4G speeds) internet. When coming to OIST, the Au plans will be offered in the first week. This document is to let you know of cheaper plans.

Some smaller carriers exist which use the networks of the “big 3”. Most of these smaller carriers use the Docomo network.

In Okinawa, the best network coverage is from Au. The Docomo network does cover most places but the signal can be weak in places.

If you come into Japan with an “unlocked” phone (meaning it can use a SIM card from any carrier), you can get a cheaper plan from one of these smaller carriers. Most foreign cell phones should have no problem connecting to 3G networks in Japan. However for higher speed 4G and LTE networks, you should check the frequencies your phone can operate on and compare with the Japanese frequencies (found here <http://eng.blogfromamerica.com/archives/31>). For example, most iPhones from North America will not be able to access the high-speed networks in Japan.

One smaller carrier that you can easily order a SIM card from online is Rakuten Mobile (<http://mobile.rakuten.co.jp/sim>). The different plans and pricing are summarised in the chart (Japanese then English translation)

	データSIM		通話SIM	通信速度
	SMSなし	SMSあり
ベーシックプラン	525円	645円	1,250円	200Kbps
3.1GBプラン	900円	1,020円	1,600円	下り最大 262.5Mbps 上り最大 50Mbps
オススメ 5GBプラン	1,450円	1,570円	2,150円
10GBプラン	2,260円	2,380円	2,960円

ご契約後のプラン変更も可能です。

	Data only	Data + SMS	Data + SMS + calling	data speeds
Basic (3G only)	¥525	¥645	¥1250	up/down 200kbps
3.1GB high speed	¥900	¥1020	¥1600	upload: 50 Mbps Down: 262.5 Mbps
5GB high speed	¥1450	¥1570	¥2150
10GB high speed	¥2260	¥2380	¥2960

The prices and data amounts listed are per month. The 3G data is unlimited. When high speed data runs out or is turned off, 3G data can still be used without limit.

“Data only” can only use the 3G/4G/LTE networks and not make cell calls so does not come with a phone number.

“Data+SMS” can be used to make and receive texts and comes with a phone number (but cannot be called or make calls). (free to receive texts, ¥3 per text to send within japan, ¥50 per text to send international)

“Data+SMS+calling” comes with a phone number and can call and be called and do everything the previous two plans could. (calling costs are ¥20 per 30 seconds within Japan. International costs are variable)

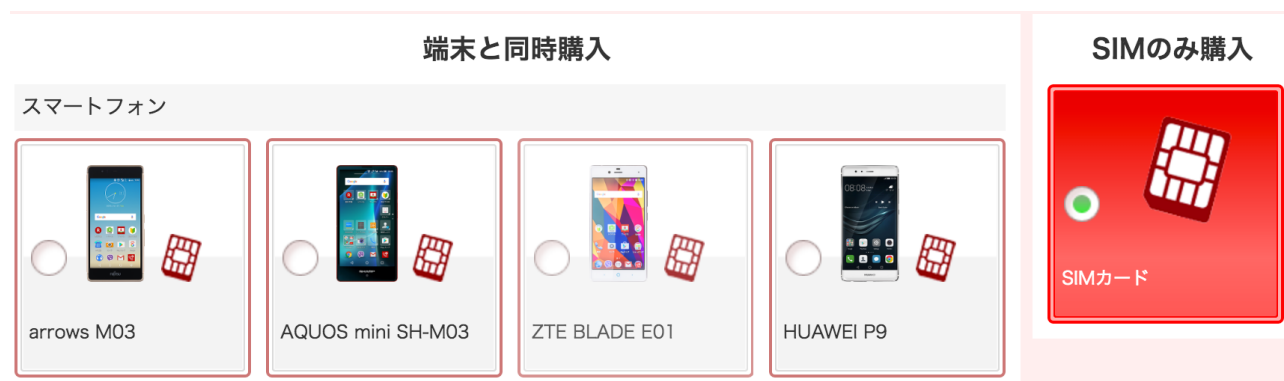

The “Data only” and “Data+SMS” have no contract and can be cancelled whenever. The “Data+SMS+calling” plan however has a one year contract. If it is cancelled before 1 year, ¥9800 will be charged.

There will be a ¥3000 activation fee for all plans.

Driving in Okinawa

Welcome to Japan! Actually welcome to Okinawa. Getting around can be pretty difficult as public transport is not as well developed as it is on mainland Japan. OIST does offer a shuttle bus picking up and dropping off students and employees at designated bus stops following a rigid timetable. Nevertheless, it is essential that you have your own means of transport. This will give you a better flexibility in getting around the island and seeing all that it has to offer. This piece will offer advice on how to get driving in Okinawa.

- 1) Driving license: This is a big bottleneck to get behind the wheel. It is paramount that you get a driving licence prior to coming to Japan. Japan is a signatory of the Geneva Convention (1949). If you hold a driving license from a member states of the state convention and you hold an international driving licence issued from the same country, you will be allowed to drive provided that you have held your licence in the country of issue for more than 3 months.

Japan also has bilateral agreements with some countries i.e. Austria, Belgium, Czech Republic, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Monaco, Norway, Portugal, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, The Netherlands, United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Taiwan, South Korea, or USA (Maryland only) can convert their license to a Japanese license without having to do the tests provided they can prove their residence in the country of issuance for a period of more than three months.

- 2) Getting a Japanese driving license: Unfortunately, not everyone that comes to Japan fulfils all of the previous statement so they need to obtain a Japanese driving license. This can be a long and frustrating process but I hope to summarise here and give you the best advice possible. To get your driving license here, there are 4 tests that have to be done and these are divided into halves. The first set of tests i.e. theory (pass mark is 90%) and driving done on a driving course. Passing the first set gives you a learner's permit which allows you to drive on the road with an experienced instructor. The second set of test also consists of theory test with a 90% pass mark and an on road driving test. Passing this will enable you to get your driving license. Sounds easy but IT IS NOT! The process can be really time consuming and costly depending on whether you go the driving school or not. There are two ways of how people go about getting your uten menkyo (driving license).

- A) Head to the driving school: This way is best for those who have no experience of driving at all. The writer of this piece took this route to get his driving license. It should be noted that the driving schools are expensive (over ¥300000) but you definitely get the best out the classes. It should be noted that the classes are all taught in Japanese hence a good opportunity to build your language skills. This may sound scary but you have a guide book all in English. The big problem comes about when it is driving practice. If you are lucky, you may get an instructor who speaks English or understands a little and can therefore communicate. However, in the circumstances where there is a language barrier, it only takes a matter of time before you pick out the key words that you need to survive and it gets easier with time.

- B) Head straight to Unten menkyo center: Some individuals who have enough driving experience but can not translate their license due to their country of issuance take this option. They head to the center to do the tests. They take the same tests that are done when you go the driving school. From the many people that I have talked to, you will fail the tests a number of times before you. The main pro of this route is that it is cost efficient but time consuming as it involves having to find you own way to Tomigusuku (location of the testing center).

After all the hustle and bustle, you will hopefully be able to get your license and enjoy all that this island has to offer.

Online Payments

Generally speaking, it is not possible to get a visa card for your Japanese bank account until you've had the account for some time. While this is not a problem for buying groceries, it does beg the question; how do you pay for things online? Enter the konbini (convenience store). In Japanese cities konbinis are practically everywhere, although the closest to OIST is around 2 km away. In addition to a staple of drinks, ready-made foods and snacks, konbinis also allow you to pay your bills and conduct payments for online transactions. The latter is the focus of this manual. Since the konbini closest to OIST is a FamilyMart, the example used here will be a payment done at FamilyMart.

Paying at konbinis is only possible for Japanese webshops, however this includes amazon.co.jp which gives you access to a lot of international goods. In this article we will specifically talk about amazon.co.jp, since this is the easiest to use for people who don't read Japanese as the site has an English version. The default front-page for the site is in Japanese, in the picture below I have marked where to click in order to change the page to English.

Clicking on the arrow at the JP mark allows you to change the language to English. Even if you have an account on some other version of amazon, you still need to make an account on Amazon.co.jp. However once the page settings have been changed to English this is straight forward. It is important to note that you can't always pay at a konbini, however all the products sold directly from Amazon Japan's store (i.e. not the marketplace) can be paid for at a konbini. Once you've selected something to buy and you get to the payment selection, choose

Where you should pick the marked option (which is to enter your payment number). This leads you to a screen where you can now enter the payment-number you got in the mail.

Once you have entered the number, click OK. This leads to the following screen:

Here you have to enter the shop number, which is 8888 for Amazon. Once you have done this, assuming that everything has been entered correctly you will be met by a final prompt which looks like this:

This screen informs you that it is only possible to make the payment using cash. Click on the highlighted option and you should be done! The machine will then print out a receipt which you should hand over to one of the store staff at the register where you will then be doing the payment, using cash.

Buying a Car

Car buying:

In OIST you will like to have a car. Here are some tips/suggestions for you to choose and buy a car.

1. In Japan there are three types of cars: normal car (white plate), K-car (yellow plate), and electric car. K-car is specified for its smaller size (< 3.4m (L) x 1.48m (W) x 2m (H)) and smaller engine displacement (< 660 c.c.).
2. The annual tax for K-cars is cheaper than normal white plate car, so better consider this if your prior concern is saving money.
3. Buying a new car is not suggested due to the price, and usually second-hand cars are able to sustain for several years (depends on the age of the car).
4. You can find a lot of places selling used cars along road 58 around Kadena, Chatan, and Ginowan. They will stick the price on the car so you can easily recognize. You can also ask friends who have car for some recommendations.
5. Most of the second-hand car dealers provide a 2-year car inspection (shaken, 車検) when you buy it. That means you don't have to do any "official" inspection in this period. However, it is still recommended to do regular check-up every half year. Once the official car inspection expires, you have to go to a government-certified garage or car repair center for a complete inspection. The price of it depends on the size, weight, and age of your car.
6. When you are considering buying a car, there is something you need to check:
 1. How old is the car (older cars are cheaper but better not choose a car older than 12 years old because you may want to use it for 5 years).
 2. What is the mileage of the car (in average 10 years-old second-hand cars have mileages around 80,000 km).
 3. Does the dealer provide warrant and how long it is (strongly suggest asking for a warrant longer than 6 months).
 4. Check the inner and outer appearances of the car and the engine as well. Ask the dealer for fixing/changing all the parts you feel not safe (Okinawa is an island so you should be aware of the rust, especially on the engine part).
 5. Ask for try-out to check the accelerator and the brake systems (e.g. How sensitive they are). You can also check the sound of the engine (whirring smoothly or not).
7. Usually car dealers don't provide car insurance, but you can ask if they know any agent that might be cheaper (they usually have some known agents). Otherwise, when you get the car you can ask the grad school or village office for some helps in contacting car insurance agents. The insurance prices vary according to the plans and the age of the driver(s).
8. For buying the car, you need the certification of residence (住民票), which is the green sheet you got from the Onna-son village office. And you will have to pay some deposit beforehand.

9. It might take a week or more for the dealer to repair your car and prepare all the necessary documents.
10. Okinawa is very hot and humid, especially in summer time. If you don't use your car very often, make sure you keep the inside of the car dry (by putting some moisture-absorbers). Otherwise you might sadly find your car got molded.

How to Fill Gasoline at Self-Serve

Self gasoline-filling (detain procedure may vary among the companies):

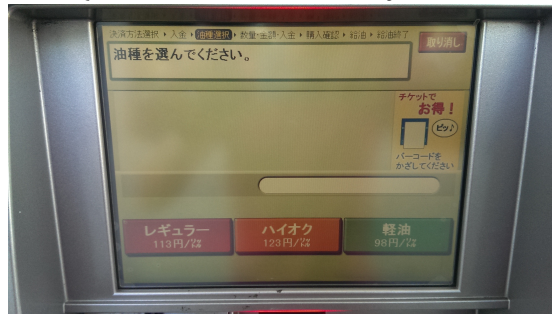

1. Choose the lane according to your gas lid position.
2. There might be a small card hung there with the barcode you can scan for getting the discount.

3. (On the screen) Choose the way of payment:
現金 (cash)
現金会員 カード (membership cash card)
クレジットカード (credit card)

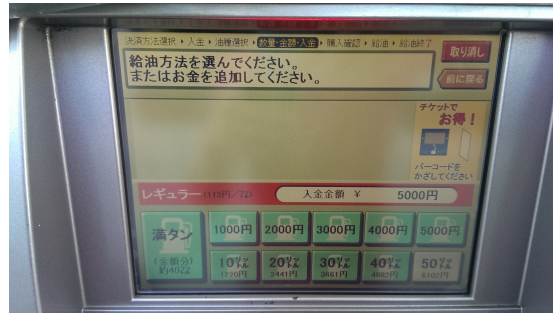

4. Choose gas type:
レギュラー (regular unleaded gas, recommended)
ハイオク (premium unleaded gas)
軽油 (diesel, don't use this if yours is not a diesel-engine car)

5. Put in the money/card.

6. Choose the quantity of gas you want to fill.
満タン (add to full)
X 円 (specify by price)
X リットル (specify by volume (in liter))

7. Remove the static electricity of your hands by touching the black round bottom on the machine.

8. Take the nozzle. Make sure you take the correct one (Red: regular; Yellow: premium; Green: diesel).

9. Filling the gas by simply holding the trigger, it will bounce up once it reaches to full or the quantity you specified.

10. Close your gas lid properly and put the nozzle back to the holder.
11. Take the receipt to another machine nearby the gasoline pump, scan the barcode on your receipt there and take the change (if you paid more than necessary).

Cheap Flights

Cheap flights from Naha airport (Jetstar, Vanilla, Peach, Tiger air):
If you want to travel to main land Japan, Taiwan, Korea, or somewhere not too far from Okinawa, here are some websites you can use for checking the flight and price. However, you must have credit card for the payment.

1. HelloWings: <http://en.hellowings.com>
Advantages: The trend of price (tax included) for the whole year (recommended).
2. Skyscanner: <https://www.skyscanner.jp>
Advantages: Including traditional flights.

(ps1. If you want to change the language and currency, just click the bottom on the top-right and select the language and currency you like.)

(ps2. The price trend is temporal and may change if the airline has any promotion.)

(ps3. Some cheap flights from Naha airport take off from the LCC terminal. Check your itinerary before your flight, If it is at LCC terminal, take the shuttle bus (labeled with LCC) in front of the arrival gates of domestic terminal to the LCC terminal.)

2. How to know the bus you need to take.

Use your Bus route map (you can get one at OIST Resource Center) or go to the website Route Finder Okinawa http://www.routefinder-okinawa.com/route_search?Lang=en or Okinawa bus Ltd. http://okinawabus.com/en/rb/rb_routelist/ and find the bus stops you want to go.

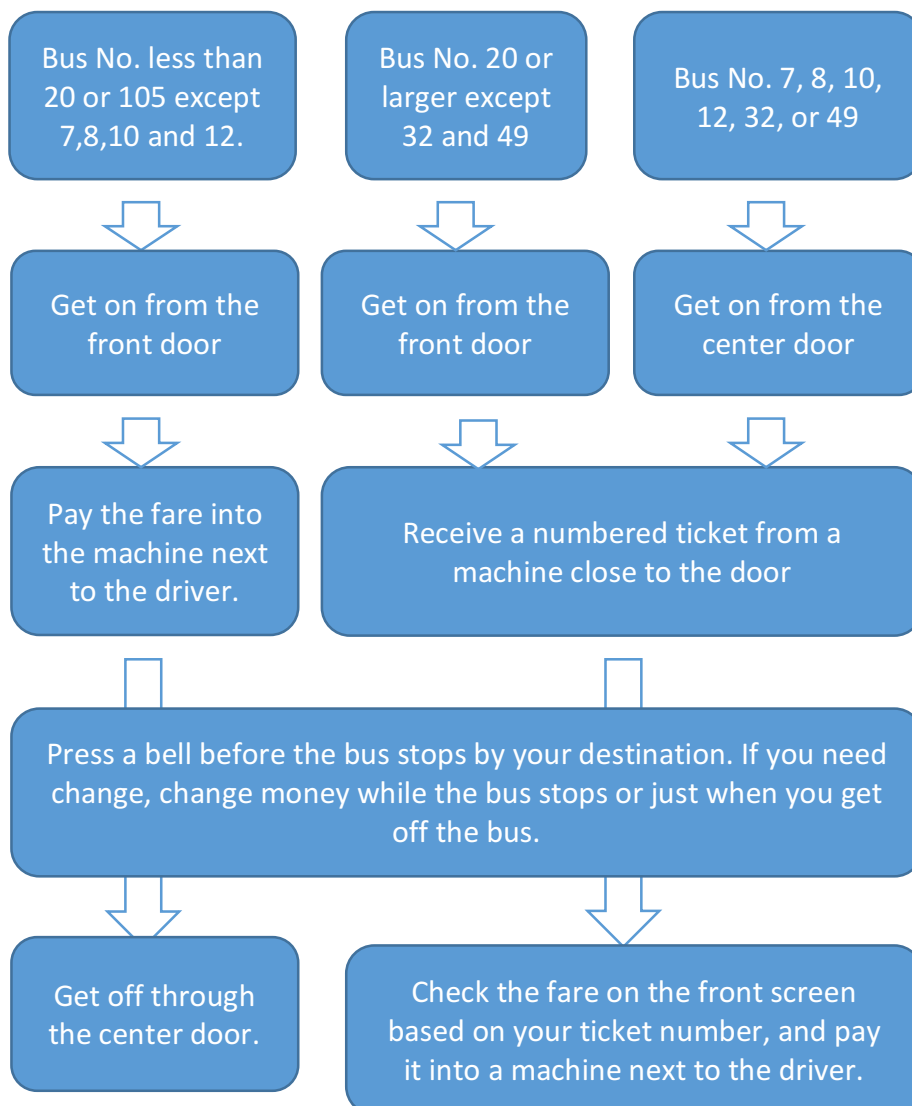

Search those bus stops in the Route Finder Okinawa to get the details of your journey. (Check the box "bus stops" to show the locations of all bus stops on a map.)

If you need to change busses a few times, remember that next bus stop is not always close to the one at which you get off!

Remember that cars run on the LEFT side of roads to think about at which side of bus stop you should wait. So, before leaving for your trip, check which direction you are going.

It is better to have some coins of 100 and 10yen or at least notes of 1000yen because you have to pay the exact amount of money; you cannot change notes 2000yen or larger to coins. A changing machine is next to the driver.

3. How to use busses.

How to reserve a table at Hamazushi

A lot of people like to go for eating sushi and one of the most popular places around is Hamazushi. One disadvantage for Hamazushi is the long waiting time which could reach two hours of waiting! A unique feature that some people don't know that you can reserve a table in advance online, which could be convenient and avoid the hassle of waiting. Dishwasher instructions and translation

See the translations for the various buttons on the dishwasher.

To use the dishwasher in the apartments,

1. press the "On/Off" button
2. Select a washing mode by pressing the "Wash" button. This will cycle through the various options. Some drying times will be selected through this automatically too (and the mist option).
3. If applicable, choose a drying time or mode by pressing the "dry" button.
4. If desired, you can set the washing to occur 2 or 4 hours later by pressing the "Timer" button.
5. Once all desired options are selected, press the "Start / Pause" button to begin dishwashing.
6. Turn the machine off with the "On/Off" button when everything is done.

Oven and Stove Instructions and Translation

To use the stove: If you cannot push in the buttons to ignite the flames, the lock may be on. Switch off the lock with the lock switch. Sometimes, the flame will not ignite and the stove will beep. No worries. Just press the button off and on again to try again. Sometimes it takes a few tries before igniting. If no sparks or clicking sounds occur when pushing the ignition buttons, the batteries may be dead. D batteries are located below the ignition buttons.

To use the fish grill: Fill the grill pan with a bit of water before using. Place fish on grill, cut in a few slits in the fish, and grill for a few minutes. When fish skin is golden brown, flip fish over and grill other side. Yum.

To use oven:

1. Turn on oven with "on/off" button.
 2. Press the "Preheat" button and select a temperature (in °C) with the arrow buttons.
 3. Press the "start baking" button to start preheating. The light in the oven should turn on and the turntable be rotating.
 4. When the set point temperature is reached, the oven will beep.
 5. Put in your food to be baked and select the baking time. From left to right, the buttons add 10min, 1min, and 10sec to the baking time. When you set the desired baking time, press "start baking". (you can clear the baking time if you made a mistake with the "clear" button)
 6. The oven light should be on, turntable rotating, and timer counting down. You can add time to the time while baking by pressing the buttons. If you open the door while baking, the timer will stop and the oven stop heating. After closing the door, you must press "start baking" to continue baking and the timer will continue.
 7. When the timer finishes, the oven will beep and stop heating. If needed, you can add more time and continue baking.
 8. Press the "On/Off" button to turn everything off.
- If you don't need the turntable, use the square pans.
