Travel Agreement

Meals and Accommodation

Okinawa Institute of Science and Technology, Graduate University (OIST) will cover the cost of accommodation and meals for participants attending the OIST Science Challenge 2019. Meals will be provided from the day before the workshop, March 9th (Sat), until the morning of March 16th (Sat).

Travel Support

1: OIST will support a round trip in economy class between Okinawa and the airport of the participant's starting and returning destination, by the most direct customary route.

2: Participants are responsible for fees resulting from any change or cancellation of their flights and accommodation made after our travel agent or OIST has confirmed the booking. Change or cancellation of the itinerary by a participant is not permitted without prior approval from OIST. In case of any breach of this rule, flight and/or accommodation might be charged to the participant.

3: OIST will arrange transportation between Naha (Okinawa) airport and accommodation. If a participant does not arrive in and/or depart from Okinawa as scheduled for personal reasons, he/she will be responsible for arranging and paying for his/her transportation.

4: Participants may request an extension for private activities after the workshop. One day extension is permitted provided that the Dean of Graduate School approves the itinerary in advance. For all participants, who plan an extension of stay, OIST will only cover the cost of the cheapest roundtrip airfare. Participants are responsible to find accommodation for the extended stay and cover the difference (if occurs) between the original flight itinerary planned by OIST and the itinerary on the date they wish to travel. When extending for private activities, no expenses associated with the extended stay will be supported by OIST.

5: Okinawa Institute of Science and Technology, Graduate University (OIST) and the Student Selection organizers disclaim any liability for death, injury, or any loss, cost or expense suffered by any person attending the student selection, unless such loss is caused or results from the gross negligence or willful act of any employee or agent of OIST or the organizers. In particular, neither OIST nor the organizers can accept any liability for losses arising from the provision or non-provision of services provided by any third parties, including, without limitation, transport operators.
